

OUR COVID-19 PROTOCOL

To prevent the accumulation of guests at the entrance, we only work with reservations.

At the entrance there are markings where to wait, 1.5 meters apart.

Upon arrival, we will have to ask you some questions to assess whether there are health risks (e.g. do you have a cold or do you have flu-like symptoms?). Unfortunately, we might have to refuse you access in some cases.

If you are with a more than two people, you will also be asked whether you form a joint household. Unless this has already been determined when booking. If this is not the case, a distance of at least 1.5 meters must be kept between each other.

If there are no health risks, you will be indicated which table is intended for you.

Upon entering you will be asked to wash your hands (either with soap and water or with a hand sanitising gel).

Tables, chairs and menus are thoroughly cleaned when you have left our restaurant.

During checkout we only use contactless means such as pin or credit card.
